BRITISH GAIN SOME GROUND

ADVANCE LINE BETWEEN SOMME AND ANCRE RIVERS AND OTHER POINTS.

(By the Associated Press)
London, May 6.—The British line has been advanced on a considerable front between the Somme and Ancre rivers west by southwest of Morlan-court, says today's official statement. British positions in Locon neighborhood and in the region about Lave river on the southern leg of the Lys salient in Flanders, have been improved as a result of local fighting.

NORMAL JUNIORS ENTERTAIN SENIORS

The juniors of the normal entertained the seniors Saturday evening with a musical program by Prof. and Mrs. Kuschman and Misses Bragg and Eldridge, members of the faculty of the state university. A most excellent program was rendered and then the two classes and a few guests adjourned to the library where ice cream and Hoover cake were served, and a number of toasts were given. Owing to the war and the plea for the conservation of food the usual elaborate banquet was dispensed with.

In Memoriam—G. W. Chisler. George Washington Chisler was born August 29, 1842, at McClellandtown, Pennsylvania. Died at Ada, Oklahoma, May 2, 1918. Mr. Chisler moved to Conway, Arkansas, in 1859, and when the civil war broke out entered the service of the Confederacy, enlisting in Co. D., 12th Arkansas infantry, and serving throughout the war with a record unblemished and highly creditable. He came to Ada in 1904 and was always a consistent advocate of law and order, exemplifying the life of a good citizen in his daily life. He was a member of W. L. Byrd Camp, U. C. V., and always took an active interest in its affairs. His passing reminds the public how rapidly these gallant defenders of the Confederacy are passing away. He was also a member of the Masonic fraternity. Deceased was the father of eleven children, ten of whom were able to reach his bedside before the end came. Following are the names of the children who mourn his loss: T. J. Chisler, Seattle, Washington; E. J. Chisler, Conway, Arkansas; Mrs. J. M. Powers, Coalgate, Oklahoma; Mrs. L. S. Adair, Hailford, Arkansas; Steve Chisler, Tupelo, Oklahoma; John Chisler, Ada; Lon Chisler, Ada; Mrs. W. C. Clark, Ada; Mrs. C. H. McKellar, Weatherford, Oklahoma; C. W. MAY ATTEMPT TWO DRIVES

BELIEVED HUNS WILL MOVE IN ITALY AND WEST FRONT SIMULTANEOUSLY.

(By the Associated Press)
Germany hasn't yet taken up the offensive in the west and military opinion believes it is being held up to be made simultaneously with the heralded Austro-German drive in Italy. In preparation for further enemy attacks in Flanders the British have been improving their positions in local operations, having advanced the lines between Loos and Drancourt 500 yards on a 1,000 yard front. Berlin reporting on the same fighting claims the attack was made in force and repulsed by the Germans and that three prisoners were lost by the French. On the southern leg of the salient, Germans made no further attempt to drive the British from their recent gains at Hinges. The artillery fire continues intense. East of the Lunenburg sector the Germans have been driven from their front line positions by American gunfire and an American patrol penetrated 300 yards into enemy lines.

Eight more will leave tomorrow for Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas.

The county board has not been advised how many will be called for in the quota to be sent about the 25th.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF FITZHUGH SCHOOL

The Fitzhugh school closed its work Saturday, by giving a program that was different from the usual "last day of school." It consisted exclusively of field and track events, and Young America entered into them with a zest that he never manifests toward that ordeal known as "speaking a piece." Quite as enthusiastic, too, was the large crowd of patrons who came to "root" for their favorites among the contestants.

From the "Go" of the first race until the announcement of the winner of the last one there was not a dull moment for anyone who enjoys clean sport, or likes to see children enjoying themselves.

The citizens, to show their appreciation of such entertainment, had raised a fund sufficient to give each of the winners a prize, so that in addition to the satisfaction of beating his opponents, the winner received a tangible reminder of the fact that he had excelled.

Following is the list of winners: Potato Race—Johnnie Hart. Three-legged race—Roma Wesson and Winnie Wesson. Sack Race—Loretta Kelley. Egg Race—Merle Hart. Shoe Race—Roma Wesson. Peanut Race—William Lancaster. Penny Race—Charles Pine. High School Girls—Hollis Beene. Grade Race (above 14 years)—Carl Mitchell. Grade Race (10-14)—Bondola Barton. Grade Race (6-10)—Loretta Kelley.

In the conclusion of the races, it was suggested that the potatoes used in the races be not wasted and they were offered as a prize to the married man winning a fifty-yard dash. Ed Phillips was the winner.

Neva Hart, the first graduate of the school, was given a diploma at the close of the term.

ILLINOIS SOCIALISTS ADVOCATE SURRENDER

Chicago, May 6.—Illinois socialists in state convention in Chicago yesterday declared for constant opposition to the war, for immediate recall of our soldiers from France and asked that President Wilson demand at once a conference of delegates from all warring nations, selected by the various peoples, not the governments—to execute a peace for the world and democracy. The convention demanded, too, that the American government immediately recognize the "socialist Russian government"—the Bolshevik.

BOLSHEVIKI DRIVE SEMOFF FROM SIBERIA

Harbin, Manchuria, May 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press) The name of General Semenov, the Cossack leader who opposed the rule of the Bolshevik government in Siberia was feared and respected throughout that country until his force recently was driven into Manchuria. He ruled with a stern hand, according to the many stories that are circulating through Siberia.

Boisterous and disorderly Bolshevik parties returning from the front to their homes in Siberia became suddenly quiet when their trains entered the sector of the Trans-Siberian railway line controlled by General Semenov.

According to these stories, Semenov's methods were not gentle. About a month ago, the Bolshevik authorities in Irkutsk sent a delegation to Semenov offering him a large sum of money and a high position in their ranks if he would cease fighting against them, and join their ranks. They requested a written reply.

General Semenov is said to have ordered his Cossacks to strip the delegates and give them twenty-five lashes with the knout. When this had been done he told the delegates to return to Irkutsk and show his reply, at the same time threatening to serve all Bolsheviks who fell into his hands in the same manner.

On another occasion a train load of reservists going to their home through Semenov's section were all shouting what they would do to the officers when they got to their homes. When Semenov and two of his men boarded the train, the Cossack general made himself known whereupon the reservists sprang to attention and saluted, and begged to serve under him. Semenov ordered them to stand at the salute until he ordered them to do otherwise. When he left the train they gave him three ringing cheers.

About the middle of January, the Bolshevik government at Petrograd dispatched the acting minister of marine to Vladivostok to purchase certain supplies. This acting minister had been a sailor on one of the war vessels. According to stories which came from Siberia, he and his staff insulted passengers, fired revolvers through the windows and demanded that telegrams should be sent ahead for all troop trains to be sidetracked so as to allow his train a clear road.

The train was stopped at Douria station, the minister and his staff were ordered to go on the platform where Semenov questioned him and then ordered him before a drum-head court martial. The court pronounced him a traitor to his country, and Semenov, in pronouncing the death sentence, stated that all traitors who fell into his hands would be treated the same way. The execution took place on the station platform, one of Semenov's officers shooting the minister through the heart.

The troops under Semenov are under strict discipline.

KOREAN WOMEN NO LONGER SLAVES OF HUSBANDS

Seoul, Korea, May 6.—(Korean women are no longer slaves of their husbands as in former days, but are ready to assert their rights. Many of them, no longer depend on their husbands for support as of old, but try to obtain their own living by engaging in various branches of industry. Some of the younger women have gone to Japan of late to work in factories, and whenever invitations are issued by factories in large cities such as Seoul and Pyongyang for girls or women, the applications invariably exceed the number required. There is no doubt that this is largely due to the growing economic pressure felt by the Korean people but it is also partly due to the sense of independence that their womenfolk now entertain.

The time does not seem to be remote, when the Korean women will be as independent as their Japanese sisters.

Party Line Telephone Bells

Promptness in answering the telephone is a prime essential to good service. But party-line users should be particularly careful not to remove the receiver from the hook while the bell is ringing.

A technical explanation of what happens when this is done would only be confusing. Sufficient to say that in most cases it results in the ringing of other bells that should not ring, and the confusion of signals gives annoyance not only to persons answering those other telephones, but to persons between whom a conversation has begun.

Happenings of this sort are beyond the control of the operators; and knowledge of this should prompt the fullest consideration of the latter when under such circumstances they may seem to be at fault.

WHY SOME AERIAL ACCIDENTS OCCUR

Dallas, Texas, April 5.—There is a reason for every aviation accident. Sometimes it is an obvious one, but too often only the dead flyer ever knew just what sent his machine crashing to the ground.

Up to the middle of April there had been 86 fatalities in the six Texas Aviation Camps, and in many of the accidents that caused them no one knew just what unexpected condition, just what weakness inman or material had developed high in the air. Fort Worth with its three aviation fields and its preponderance of flyers training under the British officers in the Royal Flying Corps had 49 deaths up to April 17: Houston was next with 16.

Crashes may be due to misapplication of rules, unfamiliarity with peculiar aerial conditions, faulty material in the airplane, sudden fright, seizing the aviator or mere recklessness.

In flying there are no brakes to apply. The pilot must be alert and ready for any emergency. A plane just leaving the field has the advantage over a plane about to land in an impending disaster. The landing plane is going much faster than the one just "revved up." The pilot just starting up must be careful not to misjudge his start and thus be overtaken by a plane that is powerless to avoid a crash.

Machines passing in the same direction should have an interval of at least 200 yards to insure safety against collisions. When they are passing over and under, they must pass at a distance of at least 50 yards and those approaching ahead on pass must have at least 150 yards between them.

One of the most common reasons for accidents, as given by instructors, is disobedience of orders. At a certain height and going at a certain well defined speed, so many loops or dives or whatever maneuver is to be adopted, may be made with safety. If the aviator disregards the laws of mathematics in which he has been drilled and undertakes one more loop, the consequence may prove fatal.

Landing in a cross wind is highly dangerous. It frequently causes the plane to turn completely over and pins the pilot underneath the heavy engine.

There have been numerous deaths, flight commanders say from pilots losing their nerve. The driver finds he has lost control of his engine, makes a frantic effort to right the plane, falls the first time, lapses into unconsciousness and the plane falls to earth at such terrific speed that the aviator is dead before he reaches the ground.

During their periods of instruction cadets about to fly are given a strict course to follow in the air. The location in which some airplanes have fallen indicated that the cadets, once up in the air, disregarded their own instructions and followed their own sweet will. According to the rules of the air if each plane has kept its course, under normal conditions collision with another plane is not possible.

Lieut. C. S. Chase of Ellington Field, Houston, recently described some of the hazards and duties of an airman. Immediately following the first exercises in which the students develop their sense of balance and stability, they are drilled in aerial dynamics.

Lieut. Chase declared that "air pockets" are not "pockets" at all, but are ascending and descending currents caused by hot and cold waves in the air. A plane ascends in warm currents and falls in cold currents. Forest and wet grass and trees make cool air; level stretches where the sun shines contain warm air.

An aviator must understand meteorology, photography, wireless telegraphy and be a master of machine-gun fire. Lieut. Chase added. When he becomes a flying cadet and wears a white hat band, he gets his first ride aloft. After a few trips he does "solo" that is, goes up alone, the most important part of his training. Next he flies in formation and then on cross country trips where he is compelled to land guided only by maps and instruments. Then comes his higher development with machine gun fire and other special training which increases his usefulness as one of the eyes of the army.

Officers commanding the Texas camps, while deploring the fatalities that have accompanied the training of Uncle Sam's flyers, say that, in comparison with the number of men who have been trained and become expert, the total is surprisingly small.

CONFEDERATES HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES

The Confederates held their annual memorial services Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church. The principal feature of the occasion was the address by W. L. Alexander, state treasurer, who came on invitation of A. M. Crow, chairman of the committee on arrangements, who served in the army with Mr. Alexander's father. The speaker made no attempt at flights of oratory, but gave a straight, common sense talk that was far better than one ornate with flowery rhetoric.

The services were opened with a prayer by Rev. G. W. Beck and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. B. James. The music consisted of an organ selection by Miss Metzger, solos by Rev. W. M. Crutched and Mrs. Byron Norrell and the old favorite, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," sung by the congregation.

The following comrades had died during the year: G. W. Chisler, Co. D, 12th Arkansas Infantry; J. M. Brians, Co. E, 13th Mississippi cavalry; James W. Vaden, 11th Texas cavalry; J. C. Roland, courier Martin's brigade; J. P. Price, 5th Tennessee.

HOW GERMANS PLUNDER BELGIANS OF FOOD

(By the Associated Press)

Paris, April 6.—A prominent Belgian who has remained in the occupied territory has succeeded in getting a letter through to his son now serving on the Belgian front on the Yser. The writer says that everything in the country that is necessary to feeding it is requisitioned by the Germans and the form in which requisitions are made adds bitterness to the act, as the decree announcing the seizure reads "to ensure the feeding of the population, we order:"

Some current prices are: Butter, the equivalent of $2.35 a pound; flour, about $1.10 a pound; meat, $1.30 a pound; fats $3.70; sugar $1.10; coal $75 a ton, an egg 20; haricot beans 30 cents a pound, spool of cotton $1.50; box of matches 4 cents; low shoes $22; and petrol about $10 a gallon.

"Your mother and I have each lost about thirty pounds weight," the letter continues, "and uncle has lost fifty. But that only makes us younger and does not bother us otherwise."

THE WAR SERVICE

By MELVIN STEVENS.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was late spring in the mountains, and Dud Embury was gazing questioningly into the clear blue eyes of Doris Baldwin. They didn't know each other very long; only for two weeks, to be exact, but both were graduates of the same college, which makes all the difference in the world.

"It's just as if we had known each other for four years," the man explained. "So I want you to treat me as one of your oldest friends."

That had been two weeks ago, when Dud had arrived at the Smith farmhouse for a brief rest from business worries. It was just a coincidence that Doris happened to be the village school teacher, but the new arrival considered it about the luckiest thing that ever happened to him. For Doris' eyes were like the October sky on a cloudless day, and her lips matched the petals of a crimson rose. She had only been out of college a year.

Their two weeks together had flown on enchanted wings, and the time had finally come when it was necessary for Dud to go back to the city again. So he looked into the depths of the girl's eyes and became suddenly brave.

"I love you," he said.

He had always thought that when he spoke those words, the girl to whom they were directed would open her arms and smile at him. But Doris did no such thing. Instead, she dropped her eyes and traced an aimless pattern on the floor of the porch. The man could not see that her heart was wild with the joy of his confession; that her whole being quivered for the touch of him. He only knew that she did not come to him at once; and because his knowledge of girls was limited, he imagined that she did not care.

So, very quietly, he turned away from her and hurried upstairs to his room.

He went away the next day while she was making a mockery of her geography lesson; and for a seemingly endless month he ate his heart out for her and then, when he could not stand it an hour longer, he wrote her a letter, telling again of his love and asking her if she could ever care for him. But in a week the letter came back with the announcement that Miss Doris Baldwin had gone from Mountville and had left no address.

And then, having found business suddenly uninteresting, he applied for admission into the first series of officers' training camps and was admitted to Plattsburg early in the summer.

In the course of three months he was graduated with a captain's commission and was assigned to Camp Dix, N. J. Then it was that he heard about the war service bureau of Glenwood college. The bureau was established by a classmate of his who was unable to fight because of physical defects and who had decided to devote his time to the Glenwood men who had entered the service of the nation. Every week he sent a letter to the alumni and students of the college in the camps telling them of the campus meetings, the football games, and all other gossip. He offered to answer all questions about Glenwood men in service, sent sweaters and socks which the ladies of the faculty knitted, and did a hundred and one things to make easier the days of those who had answered the nation's call.

Dud enjoyed the letters immensely; and one time in the late fall, when he happened to be in the college town, he dropped into the office of the war bureau. Jim Handy, the director greeted him cordially.

"Even the co-eds are doing things," he said enthusiastically.

"Who are they, and what are they doing?" asked Dud.

"Oh, lots of things. There's Doris Baldwin, for instance. She has charge."

"There's who?"

Dud's eyes were popping out of his head and his hand had gripped the wrist of his classmate convulsively. The director of the bureau looked at him wonderingly.

"And you mean to say you know where she is?"

"Of course I do."

Dud rose suddenly from his chair and clapped the astonished Jim Handy roundly on the shoulder.

"Jim," he announced jubilantly, "I thought your war service bureau was a pretty good thing before, but now I know it's the greatest thing ever invented. Where is she?"

"I suppose you mean Doris," Jim answered. "If you do, she's one of the ladies in charge of the Hostess house at Camp Dix. Where are you going?" Jim was already half way to the door.

"There's a train for camp which leaves this town in just five minutes," he said, "and I'm going to be on that train."

He caught it without the least bit of trouble, and when he reached the camp, the first thing he did was to make a bee-line for the Hostess house. He found Doris there, waiting as if she had been expecting him for a long time, and in just two minutes he made right the misunderstanding of many months.

So it was that the war service bureau served two people in a way which was not mentioned on its letter-heads.

DR. WILEY SUGGESTS ELECTRIC FAN FOR BABY

This authority on food and health, discussing, in Good Housekeeping, means for reducing infant mortality, said:

"...the fan is an excellent apparatus for mitigating the suffering from heat. Air in motion carries away rapidly from the body, heat that is always or that is not, and into it. No cooling process of this kind can diminish the natural warmth of the body, but it can minimize the discomfort that the infant must endure from stagnant air. It is well that the current of the fan be not directly on the infant's body, but over it or to one side."

Have an Emerson Fan in every room for real convenience and comfort.

Warning to Auto Owners

Rubber Famine Is Now Almost Upon Us

Anticipating a sharp advance in the price of tires and tubes and auto accessories, The Sterling Motor Supply Company, with general offices at Oklahoma City, and a branch house at Ada, was organized for the purpose of protecting its stockholders and customers from the middleman's profit and this advance. It is composed mostly of Ada business men, and is based on a simple plan that has been tried in other states and is a safe and conservative business investment. It is NO WILD STOCK SELLING SCHEME—no gamble, but a safe and sane way of saving money on tires and tubes, and also of securing handsome dividends on the money invested.

This company has just opened a branch office in the Ada News building, North Broadway, and has placed an order for $14,464.00 of the famous AMAZON SUPER-TIRES AND TUBES, (anti-blowout, the largest shipment of tires and tubes ever made in Oklahoma outside of Oklahoma City and Tulsa. This order was made before the 10 per cent advance in price that went into effect on May 4th, and was made to save money to its stockholders and customers.

YOU WILL BE INTERESTED AT ONCE when you see these tires and tubes. Call at the Company's offices, Ada News Building, for particulars, or see

TRAMP PRINTERS LAND IN PRISON

Stow Away in Box Car and Wake Up in Reformatory Inclosure.

UNCLE JIM TO RESCUE

Appeals to Guards Are Jeered at Until Superintendent Finally "Discovers" Them After Three Months' Servitude.

Chicago.—The wanderlust called Gus. The wanderlust called Bill. Gus and Bill wrapped up their worldly goods and stowed themselves away in a box car. The box car would take them to strange ports, deposit them in rare lands.

Gus was a tramp printer. Bill was a tramp printer. The desire for change had fired them both. They nestled in the corner of the box car as it bumped and rattled over the rails. They fell asleep, dreaming of coconut groves and yellow-walled towns, where Gus would wear a maul and a sword and be printer to some highness, where Bill could land something soft and simple and colorful.

Awake to Find Car Standing. When they awoke the box car was no longer in motion. Everything was quiet. Gus and Bill crawled forward.

"It looks," said Gus, "as if we're on a siding."

"Let's bump off," said Bill. "We must be pretty far along anyway. Maybe we can hike the rest of it."

Bill was thinking of the printer's Avalon for which he had set forth. Gus, likewise meditating upon this roseate realm, slid open the box car door and the two jumped.

"What ho," said Gus, "this is a rummy place."

"What ho," began Bill, when a man bearing a gun appeared.

"Move on," said the man, "get on to your shops or I'll report you."

The man was one of the guards at the Pontiac reformatory. Gus denounced. Bill objected. The guard was firm and strong and furthermore owned a gun. Rubbing their eyes, Gus and Bill staggered forward and found themselves shoved into a line that was forming at the door of a large building.

They found themselves walking in this line, dazed and uncertain, into a shop from which issued a smell of varnish and paint. In ten minutes Gus and Bill were properly equipped inmates of the Pontiac reformatory, making rattan chairs for something like six cents a day.

"Get on to Your Shops or I'll Report You."

"What the—?" asked Gus. "Where's the boss?"

"We'll find him," said Bill.

That evening, as the movies have it, Gus and Bill endeavored to gain an audience with the superintendent. Their arguments fraught with wild and angered words, appealed to the guard as irrational. They saw not the superintendent. They received instead a cell, and therein they lay down to meditate upon the whims of fate and the helplessness of man.

Cats Drags Along.

For one month Gus and Bill struggled against their strange destiny, their efforts finally attracting the attention of the powers in charge. For another month these powers struggled with the fine legal point which the situation of the two printers offered. For a third month the case hung fire in the prison court. And during this time Gus and Bill had changed from the chair factory into the prison print shop.

Here "Jim" Maddigan, in charge of the print shop, fastened an eagle eye upon the two men.

"Where'd you work before they sent you up?" inquired Uncle Jim, who, as one of Chicago's foremost printers before he took up prison work, is a living encyclopedia of the trade.

"We weren't sent up," wailed Gus and for the hundredth time the two unfortunate tramps recited their tale of woe. Uncle Jim hearkened and after indulging in proper laughter at so droll a turn of events championed the cause of Gus and Bill in person.

Gus and Bill are now at liberty, the wheels of justice having finally made the necessary rotations.

German's Creating Hatred.

(By the Associated Press)
New York, May 6.—"You are conducting in Livonia and Estonia a regime of force which will cause a deep enmity toward everything that is German," said Deputy George Ledebour, leader of the German Independent Socialists during a discussion of the Brest-Litovsk treaty in the German Reichstag on March 19, according to German newspapers. "We reject the treaty," he said. "The King of Prussia should become Duke of Courland. According to what principles is the good men to reign there?"
Ledebour said that Russian soldiers in Livonia and Estonia were being hanged by the Germans.

CANARY ALIGHTS ON WOMAN'S HAT

Half Frozen Songster Seeks Comfort With Stuffed Birds and Finds Home.

Chicago.—A little canary bird, desperately cold at State and Madison streets, spied two stuffed birds on the top of Mrs. Louis Brock's fur hat. He alighted, found it warm and comfy, and there he stayed. Mrs. Brock, who lives at 6803 Cornell avenue, felt the weight on her head and discovered the bird. She had just lost a little bird named Mike, who was noted in the neighborhood for the way in which he could sing "Dearie, Dearie."

"At first just for a moment I thought it might be Mike come back to me," she said, "but I had buried Mike in

Spied Two Stuffed Birds.

Jackson park, and then dug him up and had him stuffed, and he's on the piano in my parlor now, so I knew it couldn't be Mike. I liked the new bird, though, so I took him into a store to get a cage. I got off at the wrong floor, and the little fellow became frightened and got lost in the draperies section, where he flew about for hours. I got him at last, though, and now I'm going to take him home to take the place of Mike."

Mrs. Brock attained some distinction last year when she undertook to care for Marjorie Delbridge, the white child brought up by Mammy Jackson.

TAKES GIRL FROM RIVAL

West Virginian Enforces Demand at Point of Unloaded Gun in Wild West Manner.

Kingwood, W. Va.—Taking his girl out of an automobile from the hands of his rival at the point of a gun and taking her in his own machine was the wild West stunt performed by Lee Brown of Howesville, near here. Later Brown was arrested and fined by Magistrate W. M. Murdock for carrying concealed weapons.

The girl was Miss Anna Howard, with whom Brown had an appointment to go driving. Instead, she went out with Hunter Perrill and another couple. Brown encountered the party on the road and swinging his own machine across the road and blocking it he pulled an old revolver, which was not loaded. He demanded the surrender of his girl, who got out and clambered aboard Brown's machine and together they drove off.

AGED MAN DIGS OWN GRAVE

Falls Into It While Removing the Supports and is Dead When Taken Out.

Rising City, Neb.—It is rarely that a man digs his own grave and more rarely that he is doomed to occupy it as soon as it is dug. Yet Frank Krenk of Able, Neb., did both.

Krenk, who was seventy-five, accompanied by his son-in-law, Joseph Barcal, had just completed digging the grave in the National cemetery here when the accident happened. Krenk, wishing his body to be buried deep at his death, had dug the grave to a depth of more than ten feet. In removing the supports Krenk fell into the grave head foremost, breaking his neck.

He was dead when taken out. He was buried in the grave he had taken so much pains to prepare.

GERMANS MURDER BRAVE FRENCH BOY

London, May 6.—Lieutenant general Sir Robert Baden Powell, addressing a central meeting of Boy Scouts at Guild Hall, told of work done by French Boy Scouts in the neighborhood of the fighting line. A heroic deed by one French Boy Scout was described in a letter found on the body of a dead German. General Baden Powell read the letter, which follows:

"A traitor has just been shot—a little French lad belonging to one of those gymnastic societies which wears the tri-color button. The poor little fellow in his infatuation wished to be a hero."

"A German column was passing along a wooded defile and the boy was caught and asked whether the French were about. He refused to give the information. Fifty yards further on fire was opened from the cover of the wood."

"The prisoner was asked in French if he had known that the enemy was in the forest and he did not deny it. He went with firm step to a telegraph post and stood up against it, with a green vineyard behind him, and received the volley of the firing party with a proud smile on his face."

"Infatuated courage; it was a pity to see such wasted courage."

FAMOUS CHICAGO WOMAN DIES IN FLORIDA

Saratoga, Fla., May 6.—Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, is dead of pneumonia at her winter home here, after an illness of some time. Mrs. Palmer had been for many years Chicago's social leader. She was born in 1850. She was the daughter Henry H. Honore, representative of a distinguished French family resident in America since colonial times. Mrs. Palmer was the possessor of membership in the French Legion of Honor, awarded by the French government.

ROAD BUILDING

SAFETY FACTOR IN CONCRETE

Aid Traveler at Night to Keep Road and Glaring Reflections of Surface Are Missing.

Any hard road is good, any permanent type—concrete, brick, asphaltum—is better. Each individual advocate has his own favorable argument, so the concrete man says, with a good deal of truth, that "not only do concrete roads harmonize with natural surroundings, and blend with objects in the landscape, but their light-colored surfaces aid the traveler at night to keep to the road. Since the top of a concrete pavement presents a sandy and gritty surface, there are no glaring reflections of sunlight nor mirror-like effects, as are found with many other types of surfaces when worn smooth or when wet."

"Dark-colored roads, merging into the grass and foliage at the roadside at night, are indistinct, and there is a likelihood of accidents at curves, whereas the light-colored surface is distinct from the sides of the road. Under motor traffic the concrete road-way offers an element of safety, as no matter how dark the night the clean, firm, light, nonskid surface is clearly defined to view."

ROAD DRAG MADE EFFECTIVE

Directions Given for Constructing Implement Weighing About 200 Pounds for Dirt Road.

In response to a query as to the construction of a cheap, but effective road drag the following directions are given:

Take two planks each ten feet long, two inches thick and twelve inches wide, rounding both ends of one edge in a manner similar to the runners in a sled. The two planks are then placed on edge and connected on the top by two planks six feet long, thus making a sled ten feet long and six feet wide.

The two runners are again connected by two planks two inches thick and twelve inches wide. These planks are set on edge, the same as the runners, and at an angle of about 45 degrees to the runners, as follows:

On the right side of the drag start the diagonal plank 12 inches back of the front, and connect with the opposite runner (which will be the left side), 5 feet back of the front runner; then have another plank of the same dimensions exactly 4 feet back of the front diagonal plank. Be sure to make an opening in the runners on the left side, immediately in front of each diagonal plank, the opening to be about 5 inches high and 24 inches long. In order to make the drag solid and well braced run a 2 by 12 inch plank diagonally across the top, opposite the planks which serve as a drag.

Have an iron shoe about one-quarter inch thick and 3 inches wide on the front of the two dragging planks, the bottom of the iron shoe to be one-half inch below the runner on the right side and exactly even with the runner on the left side.

Large holes should be bored in front ends of the runners in which to attach the rope or chain to pull the drag. It is well to hitch the horses as close as possible. The total weight of the drag, under these specifications, is about 200 pounds and an ordinary team can pull it on a dirt road, with a heavy man on, with less effort than any other drag of the same dimensions on the market and it will be found that this road leveler will do far better work than a split-log or metal drag.

Hugh Bennett With Ice Co.
Hugh Bennett, the retiring commissioner of public works, today assumed his duties as assistant manager of the Ada Ice and Cold Storage Co., and Ada Ice Cream Co. In this capacity he will look after the details of the business, thus giving Mr. Frick more time to look after various phases of war work with which he is identified and could not handle satisfactorily to himself with the entire burden of management of the plant on his shoulders. Mr. Bennett was in the employ of the company before his election to office and knows how to handle the business in an efficient manner.

Gaza, a Place of Trade.

In almost every particular the modern Gaza is an Egyptian rather than a Syrian town. It is full of rich vegetation, and its many glistening minarets show up against the dull green of innumerable olive trees. Gaza is still, as of old, a place of trade, of caravans and its bazaars are loud with traffic and filled with merchandise.

Songs of the Heart.

The finest music of the greatest orchestra on earth cannot help a heart along to happiness as the songs do that the heart sings to itself—songs of cheer, of patience, of trust, of unselfish love. These make the melody of life, and grow stronger and sweeter by practice year by year.—Exchange.

Cake Annoyed Him.

Eugene, who is just beginning to learn he should not eat cake before his meal, was seated at the table when suddenly he saw a cake on the buffet and remarked: "Oh, my! Tover up dat take till I eat my tatoes."

Little Angel Present.

A primary teacher, admonishing little Ann, who usually was a model child, for misconduct, said: "I thought I had a little angel in the room. Now where is she?" Little Betty, on the other side of the room, stood up meekly and shyly answered: "Here I is."

Red Cross Window Trim.

The Red Cross committee met with lots of enthusiasm this morning from the merchants who are anxious to donate a window to a special trim featuring the Red Cross.

Ada will have a treat on Saturday of this week with co-operative window displays—Hardware stores, Groceries, Dry Goods stores, Clothing stores, Furniture stores, etc., all will have their own ideas expressed on the one vital subject, "Red Cross."

The wives of the merchants might assist the busy merchants in work out a splendid idea. Does Ada do things? Just watch Saturday. COMMITTEE.

The garage and servant's house at the Schienberg residence, West 17th, was burned Saturday night, about 10 o'clock. Orville's Snead's garage on the adjoining lot, caught, but was extinguished before much damage was done.
